VIKAS PATHAK
& LALMANI VERMA
New Delhi, February 9

PRIME MINISTER NARENDRA Modi announced Friday his government's decision to confer the Bharat Ratna on former Prime Ministers Chaudhary Charan Singh and P V Narasimha Rao, and agricultural scientist M S Swaminathan who led India's Green Revolution.

This was the third announcement on Bharat Ratnas within a fortnight – the two earlier decisions were on honouring Karpuri Thakur and his social justice legacy, and L K Advani who played a key role in the rise of the BJP and the Ram temple movement.

Announcing the highest civilian honour for Rao, Charan Singh and Swaminathan, Modi hailed their many contributions to the country. He mentioned that Rao's tenure as Prime Minister was marked by significant measures that opened India to global markets, fostering a new era of economic development.

The government said that Rao's contributions to India's foreign policy, language and education sectors underscore his multifaceted legacy as a leader who not only steered India through critical transformations but also enriched its cultural and intellectual heritage. Modi praised Charan Singh for dedicating his entire life to the rights of farmers and their welfare, and Swaminathan for his "monumental contributions to our nation in agriculture and farmers' welfare" and "someone I knew closely and I always valued his insights and inputs".

The honour for the three men is also replete with political messaging on several levels in the countdown to the Lok Sabha polls, continuing a Modi-era trend when it comes to State awards. At five, one more than the four announced in 1999, this is the maximum number of Bharat Ratnas announced in a year. Charan Singh was a prominent farmer leader with a strong base among the Jats of western UP. In offering him the highest civilian award, the Modi government has reached out to farmers of north India in general and the Jat community of western UP, Rajasthan and Haryana in particular. Significantly, the Jats of Haryana and western UP were at the forefront of the year-long agitation against the three farm laws legislated in 2021, on the borders of the Capital, eventually forcing the Prime Minister to announce their withdrawal.

The award comes at a time when there is growing speculation about the Rashtriya Lok Dal, set up by Charan Singh's son Ajit Singh and now led by his grandson Jayant Choudhury, breaking away from the Opposition INDIA bloc to join the NDA. "Dil jeet liya (You've won my heart)," Jayant posted soon after the announcement of the award.

Earlier, after the Bharat Ratna was named for Karpuri Thakur, who had pioneered EBC reservation in Bihar, the JD(U) split from INDIA and joined the NDA. But the symbolism of the award to Charan Singh does not stop here. The farmer leader spent 38 years in the Congress before splitting the party in UP after it failed to get a majority in the 1967 state Assembly elections, and walked out with 16 MLAs. He then became the Chief Minister with the support of the Jana Sangh – the BJP's forerunner – along with the socialists, the Communists and the Swatantra Party.

While that government proved short-lived, it didn't halt Charan Singh. He returned as CM for another short tenure in 1970 with the support of the Congress. After some more experiments with other parties, in 1977, post the Emergency, Charan Singh again found himself in the opposite ranks to the Congress, joining the Janata Party, which was formed by the merger of various Opposition parties including the Jana Sangh. He was Deputy Prime Minister in the Janata government that came to power, in which later BJP luminaries Atal Bihari Vajpayee and L K Advani were also ministers. Once the Janata Party started cracking due to its ideological contradictions, Charan Singh quit.

This time, he became PM for a brief while with the support of Indira Gandhi's Congress. The Bharat Ratna to Charan Singh hence is recognition for a leader who stood up against the Congress, and was a co-traveller of the Jana Sangh for some years.

The boy who could be next Jadeja

PRATYUSH RAJ
New Delhi, February 9

THE RUN-UP is brisk and measured. The action is fluent and simple. The ball travels the perfect line and lands where he wants it to. The ball often skids off the surface, some break away from the right-handed batsman. Combine his wiry frame and the fiery attitude, little wonder that Saumy Pandey is likened to Ravindra Jadeja, his idol. Like Jadeja in the 2008 U-19 World Cup, he is enjoying a breakout campaign—his 17 wickets have come at an average of 8.47; the economy rate is a thrifty 2.44.

The comparison is unfair, says his father Krishna Kumar Pandey, a Hindi teacher in a government school in Madhya Pradesh's Sidhi district. "I teach Hindi literature, so I am a bit strict on giving good grades. If people are comparing him with Ravindra Jadeja, it is not fair. Jadeja has played fifteen years of cricket, he has earned 100 marks in his career. He has done the hard yards, worked hard to reach at this level and has won so many games for India," he explains to this paper.

His son, on the other hand, "has yet to earn that first mark in his career". "Mujhe lagta hai Saumy abhi shunya pe hai (At present Saumy is on a zero)," he says. But his coach Aril Anthony, while endorsing Saumy's father's views, says Jadeja's body language and intent on the field fascinated him. So he tried every single day to emulate him. "He is from the IPL generation. He has grown up watching Jadeja, so one can't blame him for trying to copy his idol. I also feel he will have to grind to reach Jadeja's level," says Anthony.

Doctor to spin doctor

Saumy's parents, both teachers, wanted him to be a doctor. "We wanted him to become a doctor. Like my daughter (Aparna Pandey), whose aim from the beginning was to clear the UPSC exams. She is preparing for it in New Delhi. On the other hand, this boy used to eat only if he had a bat in his hands," he recalls.

"I have tried my way by telling him that you have to score this much then only we will allow you to join an academy. He was sharp and used to get good marks," Pandey Sr says, laughing. He now wants him to clear at least the intermediate exam.

But after seeing his son's passion for the game, the Pandey family moved to Rewa, which is 35 km from their village Bharatpur so that he could get proper training. "When he was eight, we rented accommodation in Rewa and took him to Aril sir's academy. Since then he has never looked back," says Pandey Sr. The family were not to rue the decision. From a young age, he showed spark and talent. "Right from a very young age, I had observed one thing that he is a very practical bowler. He is excellent in matches and that you can see in his bowling. People think he keeps bowling on one spot, but I disagree, he hits the good length more often," says Anthony, who calls him a thinking bowler.

Watch his spunk and aggression, and Anthony proudly says: "Ek spinner may fast bowler ki aatma hai (He has got the soul of a fast bowler)." "Intent has always been there. He prepares well before the game. He reads the pitch nicely. You don't need to tell him things twice. I find him a street-smart cricketer. He knows how to execute his plans," he adds. Just like Jadeja, you could add. In the first two matches, Pandey bagged seven wickets but Anthony said his ward was not quite happy. "Sir choti team k khilaf wicket le kar kya fayda (What's the point of taking wickets against smaller teams?)" he would ask his coach.

"I also don't praise him often. I also told him 'I will see how you will bowl against big teams like New Zealand, Australia, Pakistan and South Africa.' His test of mind will be the final. He has had an excellent World Cup so far and I want to see whether he has in it him to finish on a high," says Anthony.

IPL attention

The performances, though far away in Benoni, has grabbed the attention of IPL scouts. After his match-winning 4 for 24 in the opening game against Bangladesh, he received a call from a franchise to be their net bowler. The 19-year-old, also the team's vice captain, turned it down, saying his priority is to "play Ranji Trophy first".

"After the first match, he called me and said 'sir, IPL se call aa raha hai, mujhe kya karna chahiye? (I have received a call from the IPL team, please tell me what should I do?); I asked what his aim was in the larger scheme of things, he immediately said, 'sir Test cricket khelna hai (I want to play Test cricket). He had the answer, he just wanted my nod," remembers Anthony.

The coach always had a piece of advice to him: "Don't run after money." "I have told him specifically that IPL is just for entertainment. Instead, he should focus on his cricket and if he does well in first-class cricket, there will be more teams who would be interested in signing him. You are just 19, don't run after money," explains Anthony.

New Delhi: Ahead of state polls to be held simultaneously with LS elections in April-May, Andhra Pradesh CM Y S Jaganmohan Reddy called on PM Narendra Modi on Friday to repeat his demand for special category status for the state and clearance of pending projects. Later, Reddy met FM Nirmala Sitharaman and made the same demand. He was accompanied by his colleague and RS member V Vijayasai Reddy. Reddy's visit to Delhi and his meeting with PM Modi took place at a time when BJP is on the verge of an alliance with its main rival Telugu Desam Party, whose chief Chandrababu Naidu had recently met the BJP brass, including home minister Amit Shah and party president J P Nadda. Reddy's party has been steadfast in its support to Modi govt in Parliament, especially in Rajya Sabha where NDA does not have a majority of its own and helped the govt tide over difficult situations. BJP circles were tight-lipped whether the likely political realignment in the state also figured in the discussion. BJP sources have maintained that the party has cordial ties with YSRC, acknowledging its support on several key legislations in the RS. TNN

At 561, number of death row prisoners at a 19-year high

Rise Due To Fewer Appeals & Trial Courts Leaning Towards Death Penalty

Himanshi Dhawan

The number of prisoners on death row has risen to 561 in 2023, which is the highest in 19 years. Previously, the highest death row population was 563 in 2004, based on NCRB data on prisons. The increase could be due to a combination of reasons: low disposable rate by appellate courts and the propensity of trial courts to award death penalties.

According to the annual report on death penalty in India by Project 39A at Delhi's National Law University, trial courts imposed 120 death sentences in 2023 while the rest are pending from earlier cases. Though the number of death penalties has come down — 156 were given in 2016 — 303 cases involving 488 prisoners were pending before high courts at the end of 2023. This is the highest since 2016.

In a trend continuing since 2019, crimes involving sexual offences formed most death penalty cases in trial courts. About 64 people (53%) were sentenced to death for sexual offences, including rape and murder in 2023. This is up from 27 prisoners given death

'Pendency in SC up more than 15k in 4 yrs'

New Delhi: Law minister Arjun Ram Meghwal informed Lok Sabha on Friday that case pendency in Supreme Court increased by over 15,600 in the last four years — rising from 65,086 in 2020 to 80,765 now. Pendency in the 25 high courts increased by 5.7 lakh cases during this period, and in district and subordinate courts by 77.7 lakh. The total pendency in lower courts increased from 3.7 crore in 2020 to 4.4 crore at present, taking the pendency in all three tiers of the judiciary to 5.1 crore cases. "Expedient disposal of pending cases in courts is within the exclusive domain of the judiciary. The central govt has no role in the matter," Meghwal said in a written response to a question. TNN in 2016. In 75% of cases, courts awarded death penalty when the case involved rape and murder of a victim below 12 years of age.

Last year also saw the lowest disposal rate of high court death penalty confirmation proceedings since 2020. Importantly, 2023 marked the lowest rate of death sentence confirmations by appellate courts since 2000, with only one confirmation by Karnataka high court. Acquittals dominated outcomes in death penalty cases at appellate courts in 2023.

The report says, "The Supreme Court and high courts raised grave concerns over the shoddy nature of investigations and poor quality of evidence relied on by trial courts to convict and sentence persons to death. The SC continued the trend from previous years by relying on jail conduct and psychiatric evaluation reports of the accused to commute death sentences of three prisoners in two cases."

In contrast to growing concern in appellate courts over the lack of information about the accused at sentencing, trial courts in 2023 continued to overwhelmingly impose death sentences (in 87% of cases) without eliciting necessary reports on mitigating circumstances from the state.

These figures indicate a widening gulf between the efforts of appellate courts to improve the institutional capacity of administering the death penalty, and the persisting capital sentencing crisis at trial courts. In 2022, SC had referred the issue of framing guidelines for effective, meaningful sentencing in capital cases to a Constitution bench.
